SINGER-SONGWRITER-ACOUSTIC GUITARIST

www.glenroethel.com • glen@inspireline.com • (516) 456-8004

Glen is a singer-songwriter-guitarist with a penchant for positive and intentional songwriting. His songs and music have been heard on nationally syndicated commercial radio, college and international radio, as well as on TV. Glen has performed at faith- and peace-oriented events across the U.S., and folks here, in Europe, China and Japan have all enjoyed his engaging performances which are often commissioned for retreats, benefits, concerts and conferences.

Glen's debut CD, From Beginning to End, hit the streets independently in 2004 on Inspireline Records. He is currently in the studio finishing his new album, Smaller Things, which contains more songs to rekindle your spirit.

Slated for release in June of 2008, Smaller Things will include "Pumpkin Street" and "One Word," two tracks which earned Glen a slot as one of eight finalists in the 2007 Susquehanna Music & Arts Festival (SMAF) Songwriter Contest; as well as "People of the Earth," an inspired call-and-response song that will appear in a new songbook to be published simultaneously by the Association of Unity Churches International.

"Glen's CD is in my iPod, I listen to it constantly!"
Cheryl Kagan, Folk 'n' Great Music House Concerts, Rockville, MD

"Glen has that gift which brings out a spark in people."
*Amy Tuttle, Long Island Music Hall of Fame,
Folk Music Society of Huntington, NY*
